"The Shadow of the Cross," Bonchurch Old Church. The principal feature of interest in Bonchurch is the little old church, now disused, probably built in the 12th century. Here lie the graves of John Stirling and the Rev. William Adams, the latter covered by a slab supporting a raised iron cross, from which falls a "Shadow of the Cross" at certain hours on a sunny day. Thousands of visitors make a pilgrimage to this restful and beautiful spot.
